Communication Activities

Conquer your Fear of Public Speaking:

Tips:

- Be prepared
- Eye Contact
- Avoid filler words
- Know your audience
- Practice
- Breathe and don't speed up too much

These are some basic parts that make public speaking easier and can relieve some anxiety about giving speeches. I plan to incorporate all these tips into the live speaking demonstration. Being prepared and knowing the audience will largely shape my speech and how I intend to prepare slides and how I speak to the audience. The rest are mainly based on practicing giving the speech to either friends or family to prepare. After making sure I can run through the speech easily, but not completely memorized, I will be prepared to give a speech.
